

“Please consider the 12h time to be a relic from the dark ages when Roman numerals were used, the number zero had not yet been invented, and analog clocks were the only known form of displaying a time.”

Markus Kuhn — A summary of International Standard ISO 8601 international standard date and time notation